Main Finding

The American University of Bahrain (AUBH) demonstrates a strong commitment to providing rigorous, high quality, and student-centric education and a welcoming environment for all students. During the review, the following practices were identified as areas of strength: AUBH's quality assurance system is robust supporting continuous improvement across all levels; staff are provided with a range of professional development opportunities, covering various topics, from quality assurance processes to core practices; and students are provided with various community engagement and training opportunities, including certified courses.

As per the review recommendations, the University is asked to revise its operational plans to ensure that performance indicators are measurable and that the resources allocated are sufficient to meet the strategic goals; develop a comprehensive medium- to long-term plan to accommodate the growing faculty and student body, ensuring faculty offices are fit for purpose and IT support is enhanced for students and staff with special needs; revise the organisational structure to maintain consistency across colleges in terms of reporting, line management, and responsibilities; and increase the number of senior faculty to promote high quality research, and academic programme development and delivery.
